United Way of Mid-Maine
2014-2015 Community Report
Last year our Board Chair, Courage Osagie, characterized 2013-2014 as a year that was both reflective and action oriented. I would describe this year as one of transition and renewed vision.

The United Way of Mid-Maine functions as a team and this made the year as successful as it has been. Our Board of Directors, Staff, Volunteers and Partner Agencies have worked together to continue to refine and accomplish the mission to which we are all committed. While the range of our services is broad we have emphasized people’s need for food and fuel as well as the ongoing problems of youth homelessness as priorities.

With our Campaign Chairs, Ken and Deb LaVoie, already generating excitement about the prospects for this year, I am delighted that I will be able to say “well done” to the people I have worked with and to hand the leadership to our new Chair, Deb Byrne, confident about the year ahead.

From the President/CPO

Elizabeth Barron

Everything we do at United Way of Mid-Maine is dedicated to creating more and better opportunities for all people throughout our region: the heart of Maine. The strength of United Way is the focus on collective community impact. We have demonstrated the power of working together for over 60 years.

When we all work collectively – when we LIVE UNITED – we become the change that our community needs! We can move forward BOLDLY, and build a stronger community together.

Everything we’ve been able to achieve this year would not be possible without the collective commitment of our partners, our community volunteers, our dedicated staff, and you – the thousands of individuals who are committed to being a part of creating a brighter future for our community. These accomplishments reflect what it means to LIVE UNITED.
“You often hear that people take life for granted until it is too late to appreciate the simple things that make it so special.

On a seemingly normal drive to my job at a local hospital, I blacked out. When I came to, I learned that I could no longer read, write, do math, walk, or recognize my daughters.

My doctor referred me to two programs, Literacy Volunteers and Meals on Wheels. My Literacy Volunteer tutor took me under her wing, re-teaching me to read, write, and do math. Meals on Wheels delivered hot, nutritionally balanced meals to my front door and gave me an opportunity to interact with a friendly volunteer who treated me as an equal.

Without United Way’s support of these programs, the training needs of these volunteers would never have been met, and neither would mine! I am now working again and have just utilized my skills to lead my new employer to accreditation.

What happened to me could happen to anyone. I am one of you.”

~Marilee

Promoting Independence

All people are independent and have the means to care and provide for themselves and/or their families.

“2014-2015 was once again a year of strong focus, and great success, on financial literacy as our main objective. We completed our seventh year offering the CASH Coalition program, providing tax free services prepared by IRS certified volunteers for low-income families and individuals in United Way’s footprint. Our volunteers are providing education, resources and skills to hard-working Mainers to ensure a lifetime of financial well-being.”

Free tax preparation is offered to mid to low income households.

Strengthening Children, Youth & Families
Children and youth reach their fullest potential.

“I can’t imagine anything more important than living your life knowing you have made a difference. What bigger difference can you make than improving the life of a child? The work of the Children’s CIT is a well-placed investment in our future. The programs we fund through our partner agencies, and our Youth Homelessness Initiative, are helping children get a better start in life, helping vulnerable teens stay in school until they graduate, and assuring that all children have access to quality learning opportunities in and out of school.”

20,000 people served by the initiatives within this committee.
“It’s been just over a year since I made the decision to become a Big Brother and one year since I was matched with, then nine year old, J.

It’s not immediately obvious to me who derives the most benefit and enjoyment from our time together. But one thing remains certain, the opportunity for me to share my love for all things outdoors with J. is a priceless benefit for both of us. Big Brothers-Big Sisters deserves credit for our successful match.”

~Joyous Big Brother

“This past winter, my family and I found ourselves at the losing end of a seemingly endless financial battle. We became guests at Mid-Maine Homeless Shelter during the end of January. My husband and I struggled to stay positive for our four year old daughter.

We were introduced to a program through the Shelter at Educare. The group gave us something positive and consistent to look forward to each week. It gave us a place to go as a family, where we felt a sense of normalcy that we lost when we became homeless. Having a place to take our child where she could learn and have fun was great. Having a place to take our child, where we were always treated with respect and dignity, was exceptional.

My hope for the future is that families in similar situations to my own, will always have this opportunity. To be given the gift of ‘normal’ for a few hours a week, when their present lives may seem anything but.”

Looking Forward  A message from Deb & Ken LaVoie

Because Leadership Circle accounts for nearly one-third of the entire campaign, Deb and I felt privileged to be given such an important role; to be given the chance to truly lead by example.

Deb and I truly believe that when we are blessed in our own lives, we have an almost sacred responsibility to give back. We took our job very seriously because we knew our success or failure would impact so many.

Since we’ve been a part of the UWMM campaign, we’ve been able to see the growing and profound needs in our community. Working together as a team, and leading by example, we can successfully meet the needs and close the gap on hunger, homelessness, and other pockets of scarcity in our own communities.

Looking Back  A message from Scott Bullock

It was an honor to serve as Chair of the 2014 United Way of Mid-Maine Campaign as it celebrated 60 years of serving the needs of our community. I was able to observe first-hand the “Power of Caring” by all of the contributors and volunteers who helped raise more than $650,000 to help support our 26 partner agencies and address local problems like food insecurity, youth homelessness, financial illiteracy, and many other urgent community needs.

I was very impressed by the ability of United Way to amplify the impact of the dollars contributed by marshalling the resources of so many people in the community and to insure that we are all aware of the challenges that face so many of the people living here. Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Our Work

Building a Stronger Community Together

United Way of Mid-Maine works with 26 partner agencies to provide 30+ programs and services which support over 25,000 people in Mid-Maine each year. Partner agencies apply to receive grant money for their programs on a bi-annual basis, these applications are reviewed by committees comprised of volunteers from around the community. These committees review budgets, outcomes, and missions of each program, perform site visits, and direct the investment of funds based on these factors.

Supporting 14 community initiatives with funding, volunteering & guidance

Here at United Way of Mid-Maine, we work in collaboration with the people of Somerset, northern Kennebec, and western Waldo Counties to discover the needs of our neighbors in the areas of Education, Income, and Health.

United Way of Mid-Maine serves more than 25,000 people in our community each year and supports engagement by weaving together people, information, and resources to create endless possibilities. The key to our success is the people around us, whether it is business leaders, service providers, donors, or extraordinary friends and neighbors like you.

For a complete list of the 14 community initiatives, please visit our website at www.uwmm.org.

Planned Giving

Did you know you can support the United Way of Mid-Maine and provide for those most in need in our community—now and forever?

Through planned giving, investors can give lasting gifts that will continue to help those in need for years to come. Planned gifts are made in the form of assets rather than income to insure long-term impact. Whether through a gift of stock, bequest, life insurance policy, or a trust, donors can contribute to United Way’s endowment, which will enable us to create an ever increasing impact in our community.

Contact us today to leave a lasting legacy on our community.
